Moch was murdered by Juan Salles at the Steaming, Texas.... The closing of all schools and public places has thrown 300 men out of employment.... The New York Chamber of Commerce is considering the labor question in its relation to strikes.... A man at Springfield, Illinois, has been shot and killed.... The greater danger of being taken down with Yellow Fever. Do not wait until the Fever has seized upon the system before you begin to feel a chilliness, a dull, heavy feeling, with pain in the head, bones, &c., feverishness, etc.

A Druggist's Story.

Mr. Isaac Hahn is a druggist, Newburg, N. Y., writing us as follows: "For the past ten years sold several drgs. of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I can say of what I cannot say of any other medicine that I have ever heard a customer speak of but praise it in words which I have never heard. I have recommended it in a great many cases of Whooping Cough with the happiest effects. I have used in my own family for many years; in fact, always have a bottle in the medicine closet ready for use."

SICK-HEADACHE and costiveness relieved at once by D. D. D. at J. Hahn & Co.

A slight advance has been made in clipper freight at New York.

The safety with which Red Stain Cough Cure can be taken, renders it invaluable.

ATTACKS OF BILIOUSNESS

Are what many people are liable to, when they are not taking care of their health. If symptoms such as Ye lowness of spirits, a dull, heavy feeling, a chilly feeling at times, with perhaps Pain in the Head, Bone, Bones, &c., feverishness, etc.

The patient should not do any mental work, as the greater danger of being taken down with Yellow Fever. Do not wait until the Fever has seized upon the system before you begin to feel a chilliness, a dull, heavy feeling, with pain in the head, bones, &c., feverishness, etc.

I have been a victim to biliousness for years, and after trying various remedies my only success was in the use of Simmons Liver Regulator. It is but one remedy for labor and that is the seizure of the means of labor, and this is done whenever a strike extends to intimidation or violence, for such acts themselves invoke the intervention and penalty of the offended law. Those who invite it must take the consequences. American citizens have lawful methods for giving voice and effect to their will, and they will not hazard the existence of the Republic and put free government at stake, by sustaining resorts to unlawful methods. The sentiment of the country on this subject ought to be well understood by this time. The true friends of the laborers of the land will not advise them to infringe upon lawful methods of righting themselves, nor will they council the haste, now so manifest, to engage in strikes, which rarely, indeed, accomplish their purposes. The very fact that employers are organizing at the East for mutual protection against the striking mania, is significant. It bodes no good to the country to see this array of forces. The great public that must suffer by these acts, will presently be heard from, and when it does, it will be in favor of the laws and their rigid enforcement, and for the punishment of any and all persons who bring ill upon the country by resort to unlawful methods. The guarantees of human rights will be maintained in this Republic. There need no fear on that head. The national heart is not stilled, and the law and order loving spirit is not dead. Neither do we believe that the forces under Mr. Powderly will be arrayed against the law, when they shall have had time to cool from the heat of the present, that has led some of the branches of the organization to extremes. We had looked upon the formation of this force as the death-blow to the socialist mobs of Chicago and New York, and upon its declaration of principles as conservative of the law and the rights of citizens under the charter of their liberties, and we are not disposed to abandon that hope. If it counsels peaceful agitation and discontents, it prefers arbitration to strikes, and holds the resort to violence to be wholly unjustifiable, it will be entitled to, and will gain, a fair hearing before the tribunal of public opinion. But if it continues to permit men and organizations in its name to intimidate, to employ force, and to seize upon the arms of industry, it must expect public judgment to condemn it, and the punishment of the offenders. This is the declaration of the Chamber of Commerce of the American metropolis means.

THE NEW SLAVE-DRIVER.

And now the Democrats of San Francisco are up in arms against their bosses. Possibly the cruel slavery days are nearly over. The political boss is the same, whatever party he ties to. The stripe down his back is the same color and width whether he be Democrat or Republican. He is at all times and everywhere a slave-driver, worse by all odds than the taskmaster of the old South. The latter could deprive the chattel of his liberty and sacrifice his wife, but the modern slave-driver of the political party does more. He nullifies the one privilege of the citizen by killing his vote, and crushing the means appointed for expressing his will. He reaches the soul, and makes the voter feel how utterly mean and insignificant a worm he is, and that a service tool he must be if he swears allegiance to party bosom. Dr. Shorl rises in San Francisco and denounces the Democrats, and then a small army of Democrats resolve.

That representative organization in its simpler form is the foundation of honest State and municipal government, and that we hereby disclaim all responsibility for the setting of office. We denounce the rule which, in its most malignant form, is the most tyrannical and reduces the masses of citizens into political bonds, making the masses serve tools of the few. We do good. We do evil. Instead of the insolence, prostration and tyranny of passion, the free and conscientious exertion of the mind in political affairs.

At the same time the Republican party in that city, split asunder, is in the throes of a similar declension, and the great, many-headed independent Republican voter is making ready to cut loose from himself, in the effort to save from ruin an organization representative of the best, trust and most progressive political principles of the age.

Up in Oregon there is trouble, too. Says the Oregonian in a recent issue:

The Republican primaries of this country are advised to advise or urge Republicans in general to attend the meeting of the Oregon State Convention, and to encourage aliens capable of becoming citizens to swear allegiance to princes and take on instead the duties and exalted title of the American citizen.

The Colton Semi-Tropic warns the people of that section against the folly of putting fancy prices upon lands and lots. It declares that the practice is gaining there and as a result is driving intending investors away. The same result will be manifested wherever such a disposition is manifested. It is a shortsighted policy to send up prices on fanciful and purely speculative lines as the tide of immigration sets in. Demand will augment value of course, and it should, but there is beyond this a merely fanciful figure that deserves to be entitled a "einch," and which some owners of realty put on lands they have for sale, and for which there is no excuse in capacity or desirability of the soil, that is the measure of the greed of the seller. At best, newsmen consider all our realty values high, because they do not understand that we are selling climate, not soil. They put our values beside those of Michigan and Ohio and do not at first realize that if our climate could be put on the top of the best lands of those States, there would be an increase in value that would put California figures to the blush.

A STARTLING report comes to a San Francisco paper from its Panama correspondent, from which it is gleaned that yellow fever is ravaging in the cities and towns of the Isthmus, and with peculiar fatal effects. It has been epidemic there since December, and hundreds have died of it. The letter points out that a weighty responsibility is upon the health authorities of San Francisco to prevent the fever being brought in by ships. San Francisco is, by regular steamship line, in communication with the State of Panama and all its Pacific ports. The authorities at San Francisco must know that the fever prevails on the Isthmus. They should officially warn the public and have the Panama ports declared as infected. As matters now stand, there is liability of a fever-laden steamship arriving in San Francisco harbor any day, and then will be the usual fuss and excitement and bungling.

CATARRH is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease: liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Hood's Paraspasite, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh. One hundred doses $1.

in maintaining the peace and order of society. Action like this will tend to call a halt in the mad rush to the strike remedy. The commercial bodies constitute an influence that acts directly upon industry, and capital engaged in its promotion. When they speak, it is the equivalent of a protest that must be heeded, else a stoppage of all great industries will follow. With that comes suffering, and that falls upon labor, not capital. The latter always flees into retirement when opposed by force. Force invoked by labor against capital invariably reacts upon the former with greatest severity. This is but one remedy for labor and that is the seizure of the means of labor, and this is done whenever a strike extends to intimidation or violence, for such acts themselves invoke the intervention and penalty of the offended law. Those who invite it must take the consequences. American citizens have lawful methods for giving voice and effect to their will, and they will not hazard the existence of the Republic and put free government at stake, by sustaining resorts to unlawful methods.
